6. Agency Spotlights: Rene Romo stated that the latest message they have about directions of congressionally directed spending for the next round is that it will be a slightly evolving situation as further instruction from Senate leaders comes in. He is happy to send the information to any nonprofits or those who need it. Announcements were made of wins for the community which were for several projects in Doña Ana County. Some projects included was $1.5 million for the Doña Ana County emergency operations center and $350,000 for the rapid DNA program for the Sheriff’s office. He suggested the Board consider submitting a request for some earmarked related to housing. Mr. Romo doesn’t have concrete ideas but Natalie Green and her team have many projects; money can be put in for engineering, construction, land acquisition, and etcetera.

7. General Discussion:

8. Future Items for Review: Councilor Bencomo stated that she and Ms. Green planned out a draft for the next few months’ worth of meetings. April would continue to discuss the income discrimination and mitigation fund and finalize for voting in May. The form of how someone pays rent shouldn’t be discriminated against. Other future topics of discussion include infill zone for affordable housing especially as it relates to fees and incentives for developers, electrification for low to moderate income households. There was discussion on the infill being affordable/attainable housing or the City purchasing or leasing land from the BLM or the state. Currently the discussion on affordable housing is directly related to how to incentivize developers. Additional conversation on funding sources and land acquisition can be added to the list.

There are many agencies that have dived into housing or have done substantial changes in their programing. Ms. Green would like to have them come and give updates for the future agency spotlights, specifically FYI Plus and El Calvario. Other potential agency spotlights include developers involved in the upcoming developments. Nicole Martinez gave an update on HUD; the Continuum of Care grant awards were released yesterday. Community of Hope and other nonprofits have secured $1,019,634 for housing; all projects were renewed with a few at a higher rate. The Desert Hope project was also approved for a sustainable position on the property. Ms. Martinez read what she had said at the public comment meeting for supporting the GO Bond.

The dates on the GO Bond meetings are March 16th at 6:00 pm at Doña Ana Community College. There will be a break between meetings to account for spring break. Mr. Romo asked Ms. Martinez to e-mail him her statement; she will. The other dates of the GO Bond meetings are March 19th at 9:30 am at Brannigan Cultural Center, March 31st at 12:00 pm and at 6:00 pm at the Council chambers, April 5th at 12:00 pm and 6:00 pm at the Frank O’Brien Papen Community Center, April 12th at 5:30 pm at Sage Café, April 19th at 5:30 pm at Las Cruces Utilities Center Boardroom on 680 N.
